Crater Lake National Park, Oregon

Before going to Crater Lake, we spent the night at the Valley of the Rogue State Park, another beautiful Oregon State Park.

On June 2, this is where we set up our RV on Employee's Row at Crater Lake National Park. This area opened the day we arrived.

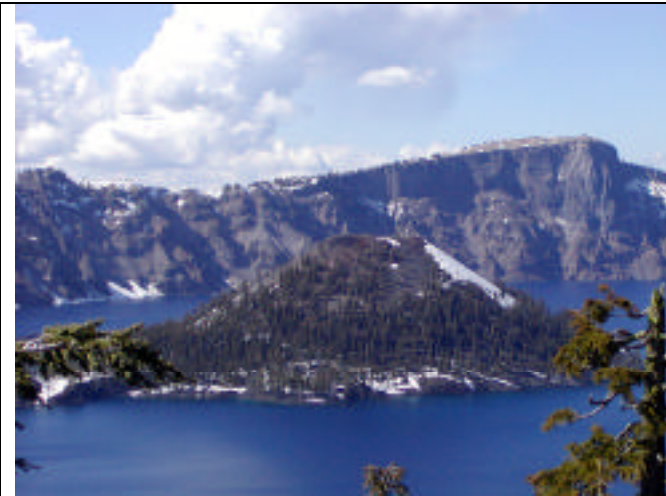

The snow at Mazama Dorm covered the first floor windows.

Although the parking at Mazama Village was dry, you can see the snow in the background.

The cliffs around the lake and Wizard Island must be too steep to hold the snow.

Here's Larry to show you just how much snow was on the ground.

There was lots of snow at Crater Lake Lodge.

Here we are along the road to the rim.

Here's Adrienne at the entrance to one of the loops in the campground. There's lots of snow.

Here's Larry at the entrance of a different campground loop.

At least in this campsite you can actually find the picnic table and bear box.
